

20 DEC 2017

Dear

Thank you for your request of 8 November 2017 for the following request for stand down, suspension, exclusion and expulsion data, broken down by age and year. You asked for:

For each of the years 2000 – 2016 please provide numbers of stand-downs, suspensions, exclusions and expulsions for each of the ages 5-18, of —

- physical assaults on other pupils
- verbal assaults on other pupils
- physical assaults on school staff including teachers
- verbal assaults on school staff including teachers
- drug-related offences
- possession or use of a weapon

— in all New Zealand schools.

Your request has been considered under the Official Information Act 1982 (the Act).

A state or state integrated school Principal may consider the formal removal of a student through a stand-down from school for a period of up to five school days. A stand-down, for any student, can not total more than five school days in a term, or ten days in a school year. Students return automatically to school following a stand-down.

While stand-downs impact on students' opportunity to learn, they are also a response to concerning, disruptive and potentially unsafe behaviours which impact the individuals concerned, their peers and their school communities. Stand-downs offer an opportunity to reduce tension and reflect on the action which led to the stand-down.. Used appropriately, a stand-down can be a mechanism for preventing escalation. However, its use should be part of a proactive approach and should be kept to a minimum because they also impact on the student's opportunity to learn.

A suspension is a formal removal of a student from a school until a school's Board of Trustees decides the outcome at a suspension meeting. Following a suspension, the Board decides how to address the student's misbehaviour. The Board can either lift the suspension (with or without conditions), extend the suspension (with conditions), or terminate the student's enrolment at the school. Exclusions and expulsions are subsets of suspensions, where an enrolment is terminated. If the student is aged under 16, the Board may decide to exclude the student from the school, with the requirement that the student enrolls elsewhere. This decision should be arrived at in only the most serious cases. If the student is aged 16 or over, the Board may decide to expel him or her from the school, and the student may or may not enrol at another school. Again, this decision should be arrived at only in the most serious cases.

We offer a great deal of support to teachers and schools around students with challenging behaviour. We work closely with colleagues from the Oranga Tamariki, the Ministry of Health, and other social agencies so that we can support families and children to address some of the issues that may contribute to behavioural difficulties.

Our investment in tools allowing schools to manage behaviour, such as Positive Behaviour for Learning (PB4L), increased learning support and bullying prevention schemes increases the number of options schools have to respond to challenging behaviour.

We offer several services to manage difficult behaviour and its effect on schools, families and whānau and communities. This includes Behavioural Services and Support, a team of specialists working with students, teachers and their families to support students presenting with challenging behaviour.

When behaviour reaches crisis point, schools can apply for Interim Response Funding, to pay for short-term resources, meet students' needs, and get learning back on track. Schools are also able to request Resource Teachers: Learning and Behaviour (RTLb) support. RTLbs work with teachers and schools to support the achievement of students in Years 1 to 10 with learning and/or behavioural difficulties.

PB4L gives students, teachers, families and whānau the tools they need to address problem behaviour, improve children's wellbeing and increase educational achievement. The New Zealand Council for Educational Research evaluated PB4L School-Wide in over 800 schools between 2010 and 2013 and reported overall improvements in behaviour, including decreases in stand-downs, suspensions, exclusions and expulsions, and decreases in class disruption. The evaluation also showed an increase in positive behaviours such as being on task and engagement with learning. By strengthening relationships and creating more positive home and school environments, we aim to remove barriers to participation and engagement and improve students' chances to achieve at school and beyond. You can find more about PB4L at <http://pb4l.tki.org.nz/>.

The number of incidences of challenging behaviour resulting in stand-downs and suspensions in schools has decreased over many years. The national rates of suspensions, stand-downs, exclusions and expulsions have nearly halved since records began in 2000.

The majority of information you have requested is provided in the spreadsheet attached to this response. This spreadsheet captures the number of disciplinary actions taken by schools for the following reasons:

- Drugs (including substance abuse)
- Physical assault on staff
- Verbal assault on staff
- Physical assaults on other students
- Verbal assault on other students

Where fewer than five students have been disciplined for a reason in any year, I have withheld this information under section 9(2)(a) of the Act, to protect the privacy of natural persons. These cells are marked as "x".

I have refused the part of your request for stand downs, suspensions, exclusions and expulsions data arising from the possession or use of weapons under section 18(e) of the Act, as the information is not held by the Ministry. Incidents involving weapons are recorded in the "Other" category, which can also include sexual harassment, sexual misconduct, and other harmful and dangerous behaviour.

The information in the spreadsheet is broken down by the age of the students concerned, and the type of action taken. The numbers show the number of incidents, not the number of students, and it is possible that a single student could be formally disciplined more than once in a single year.

Stand-downs and suspensions are measures of schools' reactions to behaviours, as much as they are a measure of the behaviours themselves. What one school may suspend for, another may not, and the data does not capture the severity of an individual action. As such, it would be inaccurate to use the data as a proxy measure for types of student behaviour.

A comprehensive view of age standardised data per 1,000 students is available by going to our website Education Counts at <http://www.educationcounts.govt.nz/statistics/indicators>, and choosing "stand downs, suspensions, exclusions and expulsions" from the drop down list.

You may be interested in the link at the bottom of the stand down indicators page to a report titled The Complexity of Community and Family Influences on Children's Achievement in New Zealand, completed by our Best Evidence Synthesis team. The report brings together academic research and evidence linking the influence of families, whānau, communities and peer groups to quality outcomes for children. The report discusses the effect dysfunctional family processes, including conflict, substance abuse, child abuse and poor behavioural modelling can have on children's achievement, behaviour and mental health.

Under section 28(3) of the Act, you have the right to refer this response to an Ombudsman. You can do this by writing to info@ombudsman.parliament.govt.nz.

Yours sincerely

Katrina Casey
